Sweetheart plays name game

Wedding plans: Jennifer and Lawley

Lawley Hill venue as Lawley Hill is asked for his hand in marriage

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

CARPENTER Lawley Hill was shocked when his childhood sweetheart proposed to him - at Lawley Hill.

Jennifer Mackie, 23, from Bletchley, popped the question last week on a Shropshire hilltop with the same name as her partner.

The couple, who met when they were 15 at Shenley Brook End school, also stayed in a hotel overlooking the hill called Lawley House, in a room named Lawley.

Jennifer organised an activity-filled weekend for her boyfriend, an extreme sports enthusiast, including archery and mountain boarding.

To make it extra special she arranged to propose on horseback last Thursday, August 14 with the help of a local riding centre.

"I found out about Lawley Hill when I was studying philosophy and film at university in Southampton," she said.

"I was researching the meaning of names and Lawley Hill means a meadow on the hill - it is very pretty. It is a real coincidence as Lawley owns a carpentry company called On Top of the Hill Interiors."

She said she decided to propose on their eight-year anniversary and it just happened to be a leap year.

"I thought I would do it on Lawley Hill to make it very special," she added.

"It was a complete surprise, I told everyone but him.

"I can't remember what I said when I proposed but he said 'of course I will'."

With champagne on-hand, Jennifer proposed with hand made willow rings engraved with the date of their wedding in August 2010, which will be their tenth anniversary.

"I had fun trying to get the right size as I had to try it on him when he was sleeping, but he is a very deep sleeper," said Jennifer, who is an expert at springing surprises on her partner. "He has been on a skydive for his 18th birthday and I organised a trip to Las Vegas for his 21st. I am always doing things like this."

They returned to Milton Keynes on Saturday and are now organising an engagement party and planning for the wedding.

Lawley's carpentry company is based in Milton Keynes and Jennifer is an outreach worker at the Brook Advisory Centre, a charity which provides sexual health advice and services for young people in the city centre.

They will fly to Las Vegas to get married.

"We are both really excited" said Jennifer.

Timbers shiver at Shenley

THE timbers certainly will shiver on Monday at Shenley Leisure Centre when the first Guiness World Record for the largest number of people to 'walk the plank' is attempted.
These children put in some practice for the event yesterday.

Boy, 14, torched kids' playground

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

A 14-YEAR-OLD boy has been found guilty of arson after a children's playground was destroyed just days after it was built.

Residents in Bradville spent three years working on a fundraising project for a new state-of-the-art playground worth about £50,000, but it went up in smoke three days after completion.

While the community was left bewildered as to why vandals would set fire to the climbing frame and slide, police searched for the youths responsible.

Yesterday, a 14-year-old boy, who can not be named for legal reasons, faced trial at Milton Keynes Magistrates' Court.

He sat with his father and listened to the prosecution's description of the events of Thursday, March 13.

The boy and four friends left school and went to Barry Avenue play park after their lunch break.

Peter Lovegrove, prosecuting, said another boy tore up some school reports and the defendant set fire to them with a cigarette lighter, underneath the apparatus.

One witness said the defendant was involved in starting two fires, but did try to put the second one out before it grew out of control.

The fire brigade were called at about 2.30pm when a passer-by spotted plumes of black smoke.

The remains of the play frame at Barry Avenue, Bradville

The damage amounted to over £11,000.

When cross-examined by the prosecution the defendant could not explain why his account contradicted the statement he made during police interview.

Chairman of the magistrates, Graham Harrison said: "We find that you did set fire to the playground equipment. When the slide started to burn you ran away.

"We believe you were reckless in what you did when you lit the fire under the playground equipment.

"You are 14 and you know about fire."

The magistrates ordered a presentence report and the youth will reappear next month for sentencing.

Earlier this month, another 14-year-old boy pleaded guilty to the same offence and his family were ordered to pay a £2,000 contribution towards compensation.

He will also serve an eight-month referral order aimed at improving his behaviour.

Ex-Mr Britain buried

MOURNERS have paid their last respects to a world-famous bodybuilder who was once named Mr Britain.

Adrian Heryet, from Windmill Hill Drive, Bletchley, was buried at a funeral service in Worthing on Friday after battling with liver and lung cancer.

The grandfather-of-eight died peacefully in his sleep on August 5 at Willen Hospice, aged 70.

Adrian was an inspirational bodybuilder, who was crowned Mr Britain in 1961 and was a runner-up in the Mr Universe contest four years in a row from 1961 to 1964.

He moved to Bletchley 30 years ago, where he lived with his second wife Pamela Boss, and retired aged 65.

Pamela, 49, said: "He was a great father and family man. He was quite a character.

"He was passionate about words and loved to write."

Adrian even wrote a letter in case of his death, listing achievements including being crowned Mr Europe in 1974 and world record holder on the squat lifting 601 pounds.

Close friend, Jackson Ryan, said: "Adrian Heryet was a giant among men. A gentle giant and a gentleman. He was a kind, intelligent, well-read man, who had a humorous trait running through him."

Adrian was born in Southampton, moved to Worthing, and began weight training at the age of 20 after working in a gold mine in Canada.

It took him just two years to become Mr Britain and his trainer Derek Manthorpe hailed his transformation as 'incredible' because most people would take ten years to achieve a similar physique.

At the end of his career he became a remedial therapist and attracted clients including Omar Sharif, John Cleese and Rex Harrison.

Computer scheme aids budding author

ONE man's dream of becoming a successful author has been made easier thanks to an innovative council scheme to rent out computers to people in need.

Like many people, Adrian Mugochi, 28, had to make the journey to Central Library to use a computer.

He walked half-an-hour from home to the library every day to work on his first novel, but now ConnectMK has launched a scheme to rent out computers for just £1.50 a week.

ConnectMK was set up to make technology more accessible to the disadvantaged in Milton Keynes.

Adrian said: "Its not easy writing 80,000 words down on pads and pieces of paper.

"Access to a computer would not have been possible without a scheme like this."

The cost of buying a computer and software can be beyond the means of many people.

Head of IT at the council, Steven Jewell said: "We recognised that even if we could supply computers they would still need to find the money to buy software.

"To solve this problem we formed a partnership with Microsoft that means we can supply their office suite of software on our loan computers to help those people who are clearly disadvantaged."

So far ConnectMK has loaned out over 420 computers and is aiming to supply 1,000 more.

■ Any resident in receipt of means tested benefits or on low income can gain access to this equipment. To find out more contact ConnectMK on 01908 252288.

An artist's impression of the new Islamic centre intended to be built on Coffee Hall

Islamic centre to be hub of worship

BY JESSICA CUNNIFFE
jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk

AN acre of land in Coffee Hall is set to become a unique hub for Muslim worship.

The land has been reserved by Milton Keynes Muslim Association (MKMA) for its planned Islamic Cultural and Community Centre.

The centre, which has yet to receive planning permission from Milton Keynes Council, would cater for the group's 500 members.

Currently, Muslim centres in the city have developed parallel to the formation of their respective ethnic communities – notably in Bletchley, Wolverton, Bradwell, Eaglestone, Granby and Netherfield.

The MKMA currently hold Friday prayers in Fishermead Trinity Centre which has a limited capacity meaning many Muslims are being turned away.

Islamic reading classes are also held at the YMCA, with 100 children attending every day, but more space and a permanent base are needed.

The centre, which will cost around £4 million, will provide space for events, seminars and exhibitions, a library and resource centre, language classes, daily Madressa for children to learn about the Koran, a community hall and food outlets. The facilities will be available to the wider community.

The city's sizeable Muslim population would be able to attend Jumah, or Friday Prayers, have space for the annual daily breaking fast and night prayers during Ramadan, and room for the Eid prayers.

"There's no facility like this in MK," said Mohammed Ageli, chair man of the committee which is planning the centre.

"It is the first centre in Buckinghamshire, one which is founded along multicultural lines.

"It will allow more members of the group, which was started a year and a half ago, to enjoy worship and community activities together."

■ For more details on the association or to help with fundraising visit www.mkmuslims.org

Danger bridge fixed

Mind the gap: Orange meshing as a temporary bridge parapet

A FOOTBRIDGE over a busy city carriageway was left with gaping holes in its barriers for a week – before MK NEWS intervened.

A section of the metal railings on the bridge which crosses the V10 between the Willen Park retirement village and the Peace Pagoda side of Willen Lake was replaced with sparse scaffolding on August 5.

Though the normal barriers have close slats through which nothing bigger than a fist could fit, the temporary 'key clamps' are wide enough for a person or animal to fall through.

Until August 12 these were left wide open before being covered with plastic meshing.

The bridge adjoins the car park and park, a favourite with families and dogs, particularly in the summer holidays.

Nearby resident Bill McCloskey noticed the danger last weekend.

He said: "I'm mystified that they left it like that for that time. If they say it's temporary that's a question of being horrified. Because anyone with the most basic knowledge of construction practice wouldn't dream of doing that.

"If I did that sort of thing I would have been sacked.

"I'm surprised and horrified and the council should consider themselves lucky that no one was injured or worse."

MK NEWS quizzed the council about the danger last Tuesday – soon after which orange safety meshing was put up.

A council spokesman said: "The normal parapet railings have been removed to be repaired. As a temporary measure we have installed some key clamp railings and we will also place some orange meshing in the gaps. We hope the parapets will be back on the bridge by the end of the month."

Three arrests at match

THREE men were arrested on Saturday when MK Dons played Northampton Town.

Trouble was expected as the first local derby between the two sides took place and the police presence was stepped up for the game.

Two men were arrested inside stadiummk in connection to an object being thrown on the pitch, while another was later arrested at the Enigma pub in relation to a public order offence.

There was a lengthy delay to the game, which MK Dons won 1-0, as referee Gavin Ward collected a coin which appeared to be thrown at assistant referee John Hopkins.

The incident happened ten minutes after Aaron Wilbraham scored the winning goal.

Several fans were also ejected from the ground following fighting in the Northampton Town end.

Glenn Moore, 22, of Northampton was charged with throwing a missile on a football playing field.

Two men were cautioned.

Expansion plans a blight on villages

SIR – As a local resident I am outraged at the Governments decision to drown beautiful Moulsoe and other villages in a sprawling extension of Milton Keynes.

As a taxpayer, I am absolutely appalled at the disregard shown after investing millions of our money into these extensive surveys and reports.

Such development has been shown to be inappropriate for a whole host of reasons (detailed in the expert reports) and as such is surely also doomed to failure, leaving the landscape and the lives of thousands of families unnecessarily scarred, if not utterly destroyed.

This is simply unacceptable.

We are the taxpayers, it is our money being used against us for nothing more than political gain and should be fought to the bitter end.

Grid system good for all types of transport

SIR – The recent survey on the views of Milton Keynes' citizens about the grid road system was based on the views of a representative cross-section of the city's population.

This should make the decision makers, in whose hands the future of the system lies, take note of its message.

The case made by the opponents of preserving and extending the system rests on incorrect information about its design.

First, that it was designed for the car. The Master Plan for Milton Keynes also envisaged it contributing to the provision of public transport. Chapter 15 of the Plan has among its goals for transport:

■ Freedom of choice between public and private methods of transport

■ A high quality public transport system from the beginning of the development, not only for those who need it but for those who might choose to use it instead of private transport.

■ Provision for use of the car unrestrained by congestion.

Second, that the grid roads do not lend themselves to providing convenient public transport. The design of the grid square system means that bus stops can be positioned on the grid roads, so that no one lives further than 500 metres walk from one.

While it is true that, since the creation of the Master Plan, global warming has changed the position regarding car usage, experience in other cities has shown that what persuades people to use public transport are reliable short journey time systems. Milton Keynes' grid roads lend themselves to the provision of such a system.

Cllr Douglas McCall's lukewarm response to the results of the survey signals a warning that the battle to save the grid roads is not over.

The citizens of Milton Keynes need to fight it by demanding that our elected representatives in local and national government listen to our views and oppose the plans of English Partnership to expand the city in ways that will completely destroy its unique character.

Top uni places? You do the maths (and sciences)

SIR – It has been reported that sixth-formers are opting to take traditional subjects amid unprecedented competition to get into the best universities.

Some leading institutions, including Cambridge and the London School of Economics, have already drawn up lists of subjects they consider are not academically rigorous enough.

Students taking more than one A-level in areas including media studies, dance, sport studies and travel and tourism are unlikely to be given a place.

It is interesting to note that increasing number of students are focussing on maths, science and languages to impress academic tutors in leading universities, who find it difficult to identify the best candidates.

According to the education minister that continued increase in those taking maths, science and languages is vital for the health of business.

It is also crucial for Britain to have talented mathematicians and maths is essential for science and innovation.

Dr Arun Vaidyanathan
sent by e-mail

■ SIR – The results of the recent independent public opinion survey to review transport in Milton Keynes were hardly surprising in revealing the overwhelming majority supporting the retention of the city grid road system (MK NEWS, August 13).

However, the results threw up some other interesting findings. Nine per cent cycle to work, 12 per cent cycle to school and 38 per cent use the redway. These figures, although low compared with cycle friendly countries like Holland and Denmark, are high compared nationally and indicate that the existing grid road/redway system, although not without its drawbacks, works reasonably well in encouraging cycling.

Other interesting findings were that 55 per cent wish to see a 50 mph speed limit on grid roads and that 45 per cent wish to see future investment in walking and cycling routes.

The survey results reveal a considerable awareness of the benefits of cycling and walking and the contribution they make in reducing fossil fuel use and global warming. At the same time they produce considerable health and other benefits, e.g. less pressure on car parking.

Our political leaders, nationally and locally, often show a reluctance to challenge the status quo, especially where the motorist is concerned.

The survey results show that the Milton Keynes public is more prepared to make the necessary changes to combat diminishing fossil fuel and global warming than our local politicians believe.

The CTC and other city groups have long pressed Milton Keynes Council and Milton Keynes Partnership to review their current transport policies, which seem more to be based on untested theories rather than tried and proven principles, to extend the grid roads and redway into the expansion areas and at the same time to cater for future growth beyond.

thecentre:mk owners circle the square

SIR – As someone who loves Milton Keynes and thecentre:mk, I was outraged by the story on page 7 last week (August 13) headlined: 'Bollards to benches – square needs a lift' regarding the proposals to develop City Square at thecentre:mk.

Rarely have I seen a more deliberate and deceptive magician's sleight of hand.

First of all Jon Weymouth, development manager for PRUPIM, the building's owner, sets us up by declaring – with no supporting evidence – that the current square is failing as 'a welcoming meeting place for visitors' and then he magically produces a solution from up his sleeve.

Unfortunately for him there is nothing intrinsically wrong with City Square. In fact it is very well used in the summer months by city workers eating lunch 'al fresco' and socialising.

Apart from a few loose paving stones, it's a real and valuable contribution to the public realm.

The story is accompanied by an artist's impression which is equally misleading. If you are going to turn a public space into retail space to swell your coffers, why not have the courage to show it?

They even digitally introduced the image of a tree in the middle of a footpath in order to disguise the monstrous new 140-seater restaurant they are planning to dump there.

In addition, any remaining space will be taken by kiosks, which are not even shown.

Mr Weymouth really must do better than this if he wishes to join the magic circle.

In a final flourish of the illusionist's art, which I shall challenge line by line, he says: "Our proposals will make City Square easier to walk through" - untrue, you can't walk through a 140 seater restaurant as if it's not there can you? - "and also improve the environment" - untrue, this flies in the face of the Grade Two Star listing status of the building as enshrined in the signed preservation agreement between PRUPIM, English Heritage and Milton Keynes Council - "and making it a pleasant outdoor space in the heart of Milton Keynes where people can relax" - also untrue, it's that already and building smelly, litter-producing, fast-food restaurants will cut down the pleasant outdoor space in the heart of Milton Keynes - "creating a new open area" - again untrue, it will destroy the open area - "that will become the focus for performances and activities during the summer months."

Really? So why not do that now, if that is so desirable?

Isn't it time that PRUPIM stopped trying to destroy the heritage of Milton Keynes of which thecentre:mk forms such an iconic part, and insulting us all with this nonsense?

If you agree why not join Urban Eden (www.urbaneden.org) the organisation dedicated to the preservation and sustainable expansion of the original master plan?

Theo Chalmers
chairman, Urban Eden

Food additives

SIR – I thought I'd seen everything – a deadly spider in a bunch of grapes, a finger found in a tub of ice cream, and a bat in a woman's bra.

But now, the disgustingly-unthinkable has happened: a woman drank a bottle of wine and found a mouse at the bottom.

I did not know whether to laugh or cry. Of course the jokes about her ordering a bottle of 'mouse wine', and tasting the flavour of rodent spring to mind.

But then you begin to think that she actually drank the best part of this bottle of wine and the whole time it had a mouse marinating in it. It is actually highly worrying.

After all, what else is in our food?

Elaine Andrews
sent by e-mail

Waste not, want not

SIR – Finally the council has brought food waste recycling to Milton Keynes ('Council looking to eat into food waste mountain' – MK NEWS, August 13).

I moved here from Dorset some time ago where they have offered this service for years. The council seems to be very behind the times.

In our throw-away culture we often buy reduced fruit and veg and never get around to eating it.

While it is important we have schemes like this to have it recycled, we all need to be looking at how much waste we are producing.

Sunshine crowd at Poppers Fest

THE sun was shining on a record breaking crowd at the Fenny Poppers Festival on Sunday.

Over 5,000 people attended the annual community event, 2,000 more than last year, and organisers hailed it as a great success.

While MK Dons players Dean Lewington and Sam Baldock drew the crowds for a shoot out competition, the main attraction proved to be the firing of the Fenny Popper in St Martins Churchyard.

The six small ceremonial canons date back to the 18th century and are normally reserved for St Martins Day.

Festival organiser Jon Gregory said: "People don't realize how loud these little cannons are. The crowd wants to get up good and close to see them lit, but are quite surprised when they go off."

Visitors also enjoyed a live music stage, archery, fairground attractions and competitions held on a grass arena laid along Aylesbury Street, courtesy of Bletchley Turf.

The Dons players put on a display of skill, notching 12 goals each in the shoot out competition and netting over £100 for charity as punters tried to beat their score.

History lesson for Northants mayor

CITY supporters have hit back at comments implying Milton Keynes has an Ikea and no history.

The Mayor of Northampton's pre-match banter ahead of the Dons v Cobblers game on Saturday – which the Dons won 1-0 – descended into pointed comments made to his local newspaper.

Cllr Brian Markham told the Northampton Chronicle and Echo: "Milton Keynes and Northampton are two very different places.

"We have thousands of years of history and a traditional town centre. If people think having an Ikea is the symbol of a great town, then I disagree.

"Nobody will remember Ikea in ten years."

But the Mayor of Milton Keynes, Jan Lloyd, said our city has so more to offer than just shopping.

"Milton Keynes and Northampton are indeed two very different but complementary places," she said.

"MK has its history and a great future. Come and enjoy what we have to offer."

In fact Milton Keynes is founded on thousands of years of history, with people coming here after the first Ice Age 10,000 years ago.

Mel Jeavons of the Living Archive, which is dedicated to compiling the history of the city, said: "People still think of Milton Keynes as a new city but the Milton Keynes Heritage Association has over 50 groups from MK which celebrate and preserve the history and heritage of the area."

Care home closes down

A CARE home in Bletchley has closed its doors after its residents moved out last month.

ExtraCare Charitable Trust announced plans to close Tweed House Nursing Home, in Witham Court, in July 2007.

It claimed the 20-year-old accommodation was 'out-of-date' and that demand dropped for places as new facilities opened.

The home, which provided care for 30 residents with nursing needs, closed its doors on Monday, July 28.

Richard Tower, spokesman for ExtraCare said the process had run smoothly thanks to forward planning, working in partnership with Milton Keynes Council and the Primary Care Trust.

"The residents went to other homes of their choice," he said.

Some of the 34 staff took posts with providers who were taking Tweed House residents and others opted to retire.

An application has been submitted to the council to demolish the building.

MKNEWS BRIEFS

Pensioner dies in bath

A PENSIONER has been found dead in his bath tub.

Gerald Arthur Phipps, 77, from Spencer, Stantonbury died on Saturday, August 9.

An inquest, opened on Friday, heard the retired factory worker was found in the afternoon by his wife. He appears to have drowned.

Mr Phipps had recently been diagnosed with diabetes, suffered from cataracts and walked with a stick due to problems with his feet.

The inquest was adjourned for postmortem results.

Dolls house wanted

FIREFIGHTERS are calling for a dolls house.

A bridge too far?

COUNCIL plans to build footbridges on a grid road may be scrapped in favour of pedestrian crossings.

A consultant's report has recommended that crossings be placed on the signalised junctions planned on the V4, Watling Street.

The council plans to build three pedestrian bridges across Watling Street and Dansteed Way, but Milton Keynes Green Party suggested underpasses are the best option. It will be discussed in a special committee meeting tonight.

Your views on roadside shrines

The issue of roadside shrines has divided opinion throughout the city.
Following our story last week on Milton Keynes Council's decision to prohibit any new shrines and remove existing ones which provoke several complaints, MK NEWS has been inundated with responses.

THANK you for highlighting the ever increasing problem of the roadside shrines. Under the terms of the 2005 Environment Act, Milton Keynes Council have the power to remove this litter, which I agree with Thames Valley Police serves no useful purpose. I think because your eyes are drawn towards them, they actually cause more of a hazard. I cannot see how dead and artificial flowers can show any respect for the unfortunate victims.

In the Wolverton Road at Giffard Park there is a piece of grass verge which has been adopted by the family of a car accident victim, which is always kept beautifully planted with seasonal plants and looks lovely. Could not other families be offered a small piece of verge to adopt and plant up, on the condition that if it was not kept fully maintained, then it would be mowed over. This could be an ideal solution and in fact improve the environment rather than the opposite effect which it is currently having.

Jenny Sharp
Blue Bridge

THESE shrines should be removed and banned. People are not buried there, they have graveyards for that purpose.

Goodness knows what people visiting MK must think of this very strange sight. I don't like it and I live here.

Come on MK Council clear these sites, there is absolutely no need for them and they are an eyesore. I have seen Christmas trees, balloons, lighthouses - what's that all about?

C Brown

I HAVE to ask that if the relative had died in hospital would the family want to erect a shrine outside the hospital? Do you see shrines on motorways where there are more deaths than on our roads?

It is a practice that most people I know dislike and find distasteful. I would like to see an end to this.

Why would anyone want to do this, is it done for religious reasons and people think they are pleasing the dead spirit?

What is the next step, roadside services everywhere someone has died?

The council should give a public warning that on a certain date all shrines will be removed if the family have not done it themselves.

Rob Wyatt

ROADSIDE shrines are an eyesore. I agree with Milton Keynes Council's policy not to allow them. All remaining shrines should be removed without further delay.

Colin Lund

WHENEVER I pass a shrine at the roadside I think of the poor families who try to keep a memory of a loved one alive and a warning to other motorists, how quickly a life can end. I certainly don't want them removed because I remember to check my speed.

Elisabeth Gibbons

I REALLY believe that it is distracting for other motorists. This alone is likely to cause more accidents in the same area. It is also morbid to see so many shrines about, and the vast majority of them look scruffy, unkempt and attract litter.

Elaine Hill

I find these so-called shrines nothing more than a disgusting insult to those who have died.

I have no objections to a few flowers placed at the time of death which will naturally decompose. What I do object to is all the plastic bags and gift wrapped plastic paper which sits on the roadside for months and years looking like an eyesore.

What's the point? Are people just too lazy to take the wrapping off and display the flowers properly?

There is nothing dignified about football scarf's, tatty flags, faded photos and a plastic rubbish tip.

Shrines to the dead belong in a graveyard where the body or the ashes lie, not on a public highway. Just get rid of them.

Angelina DeLorean

WHEN visiting the Peak District earlier this year I read an article in their local paper about such 'road side shrines'.

The article went on to explain how they dealt with these 'shrines'. After the accident police accompany family members to the scene. If they wish to place anything there as a memorial, it is explained that they will be requested to remove such articles after 12 weeks.

When approaching the end of the 12 week period police liaison officers contact the family to arrange to meet them and remove the 'memorial items'. Should the family not 'comply' or do not wish to re-visit the scene, then police liaison officers remove the items and dispose of them.

A sensitive compromise for all parties, one I would wish Milton Keynes Council and police to explore.

If this idea had been in place then twice a day I would not need to pass a memorial at the junction of Blackmoregate/Fullmer Street which now has rotting flowers and 'Police Surveillance' signs flapping about on trees. This is not, I believe, a fitting memorial after such a tragic accident.

Jane A Roberts

I READ your article regarding roadside memorials on your website with great interest.

It was well written and informative.

Your readers would benefit from the knowledge there is an alternative to displaying a roadside memorial on public roads or right of ways.

Wait your turn: Queues at Bletchley Post Office could grow if other POs are closed

Campaigns hot up to save POs

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

CAMPAIGNERS are making a last-ditch effort to save their Post Offices as consultation on their future comes to a close.

More than 800 residents have signed a petition to keep Conniburrow Post Office open, one of six branches earmarked for closure.

The list also includes Fishermead, Little Brickhill, Weston Underwood, Water Eaton and Fenny Stratford.

An eight-week consultation began on July 8 as part of the national 'network change programme', and will end next Tuesday, August 26.

Alan Gilbert, from Mayditch Place, Bradwell Common collected the signatures by setting up a stall outside Conniburrow Post Office.

Working with Labour parliamentary candidate for MK North, Andrew Pakes, he has also written to every household on the estate urging them to respond.

Mr Gilbert said: "I know many residents have already written or e-mailed the Post Office directly about their concerns for the future of the branch.

"Having spoken to literally hundreds of people I know how important this service is, particularly for pensioners and disabled people who will find it difficult to get to another branch."

Mr Pakes added: "The Post Office branch is an important lifeline to many people living on the estate."

Barry Landsberg, member of Little Brickhill Residents' Association, hopes to remind Post Office users of the damage the closures could do by releasing the above picture of people queueing at the Bletchley branch.

The group argues the already overwhelmed Bletchley Post Office may have up to 40 per cent more people in its queues as a result of the loss of three nearby branches.

"The effect of these closures is not only in the places that lose their Post Office. They will have a hard knock-on effect that will hit even those who keep their local branch," said Mr Landsberg.

The council has commissioned a £30,000 business case to consider whether it, or parish councils, could save the Post Offices by taking over branches or setting up mobile post offices.

The papers will be presented to cabinet in September.

Cllr Vanessa McPake said: "The good news is that we have just heard from the Minister for Local Government that they may be prepared to extend the deadline on a specific post office closure by up to three months if a serious local funding proposal is on the cards."

■ To take part in the consultation write to National Consultation Team, Post Office Ltd, FREEPOST CONSULTATION TEAM (no stamp is required), or call 08457 22 33 44.

Four in court after cops find £1m cannabis and cash stash

FOUR men have appeared in court after a police drugs raid uncovered cannabis and cash worth more than £1million.

Each has been charged with conspiracy to supply the Class C drug cannabis, after officers raided ten addresses last Wednesday, including one at Elmers Park, Bletchley.

The four men in the dock at Milton Keynes Magistrates' Court on Friday included 30-year-old Jonathon Phillip Reed, a serving prisoner, Jason Anthony Richards, a 37-year-old martial arts instructor from Coventry, Ryan Sweeny, 26, from Wellingborough and Andrew Martin, 30, from Burton.

The swoop was part of a major surveillance operation by Thames Valley Police and the Prison Service, lasting more than six weeks and stretching across London, Milton Keynes, Southampton, Northamptonshire and Coventry.

The offences are alleged to have taken place between June 1 and August 30.

Each defendant was remanded in custody and they are all due to appear at Aylesbury Crown Court next week.

A 24-year-old woman was also arrested during the operation, but has been released on police bail until October.

Off-licence staff get proof of age training cards

SHOP staff who sell alcohol have been given training cards to help spot fake identification.

The initiative, from the Proof of Age Standards Scheme (PASS), is aimed at boosting confidence among off-licence staff to challenge someone who looks under age.

Cards have been distributed at every off-licence in Milton Keynes, with a checklist of five things to look for on a genuine proof of age card.

Robert Humphreys, chairman of PASS, said: "The need to be sure that customers are of age has created problems for both retailers, when selling, and for young people who are trying to buy, age-restricted goods."

Fire-fighters of the water rescue unit at Newport Pagnell

Thrill-seekers' water warning

BY JESSICA CUNNIFFE
jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk

THRILL-SEEKERS are risking their lives by jumping into city waters.

Areas such as Stony Stratford are also plagued by the pursuit known as 'tomb stoning', with people hurling themselves off the A5 bridge into the River Ouse.

Other hotspots for diving and swimming include Millfields Weir and Tombs Meadow in Stony Stratford, the River Ouse near the viaduct at Old Wolverton and Lodge Lake sluice.

Weirs, jetties and sluices at Caldecotte, Furzton and Willen lakes are also popular.

But the Community Safety Partnership says that, though the water may look inviting, it can be dangerous, with sharp objects that have been dumped in there, as well as animal waste and natural debris.

Mark Robinson, watch manager at Newport Pagnell Fire Station, said: "This is a time in the year when kids decide to have some fun with jumping off bridges into canals and rivers but it must be remembered that with the heavy rain areas that may be deemed 'safe' may in fact have deeper water and a stronger current.

"When we are called out to a water incident a fire engine is sent out, as well as the water rescue unit. This unit needs to be manned by fire fighters who have undertaken specialised training and are equipped to deal with these situations.

"Putting yourself in a vulnerable situation by swimming in these waters means these resources are called out to help you when they could be attending a house fire or another serious incident."

MKNEWS BRIEFS

Celebrating green space

AN open day on Bury Common aims to raise awareness of the history of a green space in Newport Pagnell.

The event, which will be held on Saturday, August 30, will celebrate the area of land which is currently being used by dog walkers, horse riders and model plane fliers.

It also hosts the remains of civil war earthworks – mounds of earth that protected the town from cannon fire – the site of a railway that never was, the location of a Second World War air raid precaution site and a new bridge erected in July.

The event will start at 2pm.

Runging the changes

DODGY ladders will be targeted by a health and safety campaign aiming to reduce accidents.

Trade professionals and DIY fans will be asked to exchange faulty ladders for safer ones as part of a ladder amnesty by Milton Keynes Council's Environmental Health team, launching in September.

Ladder Exchange 2008 aims to protect the 15 people seriously injured at work after falling from ladders every year.

Discounted ladders, in exchange for an unsafe or worn-out model, can be found at HHS Hire in Milton Keynes and Sid Telfer Limited, Newport Road, New Bradwell.

Anyone who wants to report a dodgy ladder can call the Environmental Services Helpline on 01908 252398.

Animal welfare charges

A WOMAN has appeared in court on charges relating to the treatment of her pet pony and four rabbits.

Susan Gough, of Stony Stratford, appeared at Milton Keynes Magistrates' Court on Friday, charged with four counts of failing to meet the welfare needs of the animals.

She pleaded not guilty and was released on bail until September.

Open for business: Keith Straughan, Rob Badcock, John Lewis and Ann Limb at the topping out ceremony on the roof of UCMK

City uni nailed on

THE city's first university was completed last week during a 'topping out' ceremony.

Just a few weeks before University Centre for Milton Keynes (UCMK) is due to welcome its first students, principal Rob Badcock nailed down the final piece of the glass atrium roof.

Milton Keynes Partnership has provided an investment of £7.3m to purchase and refurbish the building, which will include the creation of an impressive CISCO IT Academy, state-of-the-art graphic design studio and stunning atrium gallery.

Mr Badcock was joined at the Silbury Boulevard-based institution by vice principal Dr Keith Straughan, Milton Keynes Partnership's chief executive John Lewis and chairman Dr Ann Limb.

He said: "This is an important milestone in the development of UCMK and will benefit a huge number of people who will now be able to study at university level in the city. The facilities we are providing are outstanding and we are looking forward to welcoming our first students in September."

UCMK will be offering courses in the creative industries, business management and marketing, accountancy and finance, computing and information technology, purchasing, supply and logistics, teacher training, social science and psychology, counselling, health, nursing, social care and sport.

Clubbers tap in to drinks message

FREE drinks will be handed out to thirsty clubbers at the Xscape and Theatre District this Friday night.

But this will not be a case of the Community Safety Partnership 'getting a round in.'

In fact for the fourth year running the agency, along with the fire service, the police and council, will be giving out bottled water from 9pm to 1am and promoting a range of safety messages.

The aim is to promote safe, sensible and social drinking, encourage revellers to alternate alcohol with soft drinks, and create a calm atmosphere.

A spokesman said: "We've given out over 3,000 bottles of water so far and it is clear that people can see the benefits of alternating soft drinks with alcohol, but need a friendly reminder to do so."

City Orchestra scores

More than 30 years since its first performance, Milton Keynes City Orchestra is looking to new horizons and reaching out to the people of the city more than ever. MK NEWS reporter LAURA HANNAM met its manager and new principal conductor to find out more

Principal conductor Sian Edwards

SEVERAL years ago the future looked bleak for Milton Keynes' professional orchestra.

In 2004 their annual funding from the Arts Council was cut and, coupled with falling audience numbers, members were unsure how they would make ends meet.

But four years later and Milton Keynes City Orchestra (MKCO) is looking to the future and starting up innovative projects to involve the community in their art form.

The orchestra is also bucking the national trend as its audience numbers shot up by 13 per cent in 2006/07.

But things looked far less promising for Anna Denny, general manager of MKCO, when she found out on her fourth day with the organisation that it would no longer be regularly funded by the Arts Council for England.

"At that point it was a tough situation to walk into," she said.

"It was a strategic policy decision by the Arts Council about the way that orchestras were funded nationally, but it essentially meant that there would be no orchestras in our region that were regularly funded in a core grant way.

"That made a hole in our annual turnover of more than £30,000, which was a significant loss.

"At the same time audiences for classical music overall are slowly declining within the concert hall.

"We found ourselves in the position that we had to rethink where we were and plan where we were going and how we would move forward."

Set with the daunting task of competing with other projects for sponsorship, the orchestra has worked hard to gain funding from many different sources.

As an education charity and business it is now funded by grants on a project-by-project basis, donations from its patrons, ticket income from concerts and sponsorship from businesses and organisations such as Milton Keynes Partnerships and Milton Keynes Council.

Last year it won £92,846 of development funding from the Arts Council to support its work for two years.

"Actually we have had more support from the Arts Council than we had before, but it has been a very careful, strategic process to work with them and to clarify our priorities," added Mrs Denny.

The orchestra has already started work expanding its educational role and regularly works with the community enabling people of all ages and experiences to participate and enjoy music and music-making through practical workshops, composition projects, family and schools concerts, coaching, orchestra training and other creative projects.

Last year it ran its biggest project ever, called 'Birds', which included a writing competition for young people and workshops in schools, community centres, after-school clubs and churches where musicians worked with young people to create music.

The material produced was featured in a series of community

with educational outreach

concerts with storytelling attended by hundreds of children and parents and, finally, a concert with the full symphony orchestra at Milton Keynes Theatre.

The project, which was funded by ten different sources including an Awards for All grant, sought to engage people who otherwise might not have had an interest in classical music.

The orchestra plans to hold a similar project, called 'Creatures', later this year.

Principal conductor Sian Edwards, who took over the role from MKCO founder Hilary Davan Wetton in January, is keen to develop the organisation's outreach projects and hold more concerts in the area.

"We want to build a bigger following for the orchestra," she said.

"It has a wonderful regular group of players who come from all over Britain."

Ms Edwards has been a professional conductor for 20 years and is one of very few female conductors in the country.

As a champion for new music, she is excited about the orchestra's January concert, a premiere of a new violin concerto by composer Hugh Wood.

The piece, written for young soloist Alexandra Wood, requires a huge symphony orchestra of 75 players.

Mr Wood's work has previously been premiered in the Proms, so Ms Edwards said it is fantastic to have such an event in Milton Keynes.

"It is very lively and beautiful music," she said.

"If we get a nice response from people we might do a feature like this every year."

The orchestra's next concert, held by the High Sheriff of Buckinghamshire, will be on Sunday, September 7 at Milton Keynes Theatre.

It will feature the overture from Verdi's opera Nabucco, Beethoven's Third Piano Concerto and Tchaikovsky's triumphant Fifth Symphony, and will be attended by His Royal Highness the Duke of Kent.

Win a Canon PowerShot digital camera and printer

THIS year's Tour of Britain is the longest yet with a total of eight stages starting in London on September 7 and finishing in Liverpool on Sunday, September 14.

There are now more opportunities than ever to see the best of British and international pro-cycling on the roads of the UK.

Stage two of this exciting race takes place in front of Milton Keynes Central Station on Monday, September 8, with 96 riders completing a loop of the town centre before heading out via Bletchley and on towards Aylesbury and the finish of the day's stage in Newbury.

Olympic Gold medallist Bradley Wiggins and Geraint Thomas will be riding The Tour of Britain for their respective professional teams, Team Columbia and Barloworld.

And Broze medalist Chris Newton will be leading the Rapha Condor Recycling.co.uk squad at The Tour.

Milton Keynes will be acting as race HQ in the days leading up to the race, hosting the staff, team personnel and riders, with many spectators also set to be in town to spot the stars in early September.

As Official Imaging Supplier to the Tour of Britain for the fifth consecutive year, Canon UK will be supplying imaging solutions and technical support that guarantee that all race results and digital images of the high speed, high drama race are captured, distributed and viewed by the race organisers and the general public in the shortest possible time.

Canon is teaming up with MK NEWS to offer one lucky reader the chance to win a Canon PowerShot A470 digital camera and SELPHY CP740 compact photo printer package so they will be able to capture all the action of this gruelling race and then print their images at home that day.

The overall winner and three runners up will also receive a Canon/Tour of Britain goody bag.

Textured pink bags help blind recycle

BLIND and partially sighted people will benefit from new pink recycling sacks.

When the current pink sack stocks run out, Milton Keynes Council will be introducing new pink sacks which are slightly textured to help people with a visual impairment feel the difference.

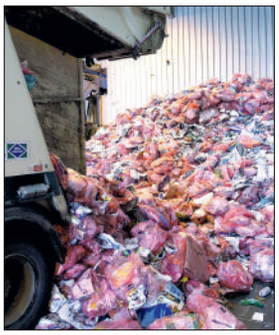
Residents will receive their annual roll of pink and black sacks between now and mid December.

The new slightly paler pink sacks, made of high density polyethylene, are the same size and just as strong as the previous pink sacks. But the textured surface enables people with a visual impairment to feel the roll and make sure they are using the correct sacks for their recycling.

Cory Environmental, the council's refuse contractor, first introduced these textured sacks for Southend-on-Sea Borough Council, following a suggestion by the company's pink sack supplier Sai-Pac (UK).

James Goldsworthy, a volunteer for Bucks Association for Blind and Partially Sighted People (BAB), who himself is totally blind, tested out the new sacks. He held one of the textured sacks and a normal black sack and could easily tell them apart.

He said: "The new sacks are instantly recognisable, particularly when holding the whole roll. This should make quite a difference to blind people and will help them to recycle. I have sometimes mistakenly put recycling in black sacks and as a result it hasn't been collected."



Tracey Bottoms, rehabilitation officer with RNIB Milton Keynes also welcomed the new sacks.

She said: "Anything that makes day to day life easier for people with a visual impairment has to be a good thing. These sacks will hopefully encourage more individuals to recycle and be confident in knowing that they are getting it right."

Anyone with a visual impairment who does not receive the new textured sacks can call the council's Recycling Team on 01908 254593.

The council supplies each property with one free roll of 52 black sacks and pink sacks each year. Residents can pick up further free pink sacks for recycling throughout the year from a number of outlets, also listed on the council website.

Residents can find out when to expect their new sacks by typing in their address on our recycling website homepage: www.miltonkeynes.gov.uk/recycle or by calling the Environmental Services helpline on 01908 252625.

Cllr Chris Williams, responsible for recycling, said: "Improving the experience of our customers and promoting equality are top council priorities. Anything we can do to reach out to a section of the community and help them to help us stop sending waste to landfill has to be worthwhile."

Making the grade: Denbigh students celebrate their A-level achievements in style

A-level results worth the wait

City students top national average

STUDENTS across Milton Keynes have beaten the national pass rate for A-level exam results.

Hundreds of city students celebrated their results on Thursday as Milton Keynes recorded an average pass rate of 97.8 per cent, compared to the national average of 97.2 per cent.

Many schools have seen increases in their average point scores and there were plenty of individual success stories.

At St Paul's Catholic School, one student made the top ten nationally in religious studies, three students made it into Oxford and eight achieved A grades in maths.

A quarter of students from Denbigh achieved the equivalent of three grade As.

It was a nervous wait for students at Denbigh before they were finally handed their brown envelopes.

Becky Hahn achieved three A grades, in Geography, English and French, and told MK NEWS: "I can't believe it, I'm going to Manchester Uni.

"I can't stop shaking, I was so nervous."

Holly Threlfall, who earned three As and a B, said: "The A-levels were hard work, but waiting for the results was the scariest thing."

Forty-two per cent of the school's students were awarded A or B passes.

Denbigh head Sarah Parker said: "The students and staff have all worked very hard this year and we've had the great support of the parents.

"It's a real shame that the quality of the exams has been the focus of the debate rather than the achievements of the students. Teaching and learning have improved."

Elsewhere, six students at Shenley Brook End achieved straight As, one managed five, and 77 students received a grade A or B in maths.

Twelve students at Stantonbury Campus achieved triple distinctions in BTEC National Diplomas in Performing Arts, while 50 per cent of students studying maths achieved A grades and two students were awarded four grade As to secure places at Oxbridge.

At Leon School there was a 100 per cent pass rate in the BTEC National Diploma in Sport.

Five students at Radcliffe excelled in the same subject, achieving double distinctions.

Radcliffe, Lord Grey, Sir Frank Markham and St. Paul's all saw increases in their average point score per entry.

At Walton High, 50 per cent of students were awarded A grades in Maths, Law and Psychology.

Forty-four per cent of students at Ousedale school achieved A or B passes, with six of them gaining four grade As.

MK6, Milton Keynes College's 6th form, also posted fantastic results.

An amazing 16 students achieved a perfect 100 per cent pass rate, including Irene Oh who achieved A grades in Economics, Accountancy, Maths and Chinese, Chanelle Marcella-Wint who achieved A grades in English Sociology and History and Keira Taylor who also achieved straight A grades in English, History and Law.

Councillor Sandra Clark, Chairman of the MK Children's Trust, said: "The achievements show that our schools are giving our young people a very firm foundation for future study, training or employment and we will continue to strive to build on these results year on year."

Milton Keynes' adult learners also did well.

Fifty per cent of those who studied A level Spanish achieved A grades and there was a 100 per cent pass rate in AS level Film Studies and Psychology.

Fishing festival a Willen fundraiser

Tight lines: Furzton Festival is set to raise funds for Willen Hospice

WILLEN Hospice is set to benefit as hundreds of people go fishing on the city's Furzton Lake this Bank Holiday.

Over the past four years the annual Milton Keynes Angling Association-run Furzton Festival of Angling has raised more than £5,000 for the hospice – and this year's event is set to be bigger and better than ever, with something for everyone.

With the events sponsored by Milton Keynes fishing tackle shops, and a number of companies, every penny paid in by anglers goes to the hospice.

Fished between August 20-24 there are matches for the veterans (over 55s) juniors (16 and under), ladies, those with disabilities, a 44 hour carp match and the Frank Swan Memorial Open match (open to all ages, genders and skill levels).

One of this year's highlights is sure to be the Ken Ball Memorial Veterans' Open Match to be held in memory of MKAA founder Ken who, sadly, died earlier this year.

"We are expecting a large travelling turnout for Ken's match in particular as, due to his time as president of the National Federation of Anglers, he had so many friends around the country," said Bob Final, MKAA general secretary and principal festival organiser.

Win a Siemens steel jug designer kettle

JOHN Lewis Milton Keynes has opened a 'Gifts for all occasions' service point for all Gift List enquiries on the ground floor next to its Linen department.

The service point will help you choose those gift presents be it a wedding, christening or simply a house warming party you are attending.

It will also be able to print any Gift List and will advise you through its large assortment to find that perfect present. Just bring along your gift list invitation card or details of the listholders.

MK NEWS has teamed up with the store to give you a chance of winning a Siemens steel jug kettle priced at £79.95.

In matt aluminium with black detailing, this is not just a designer kettle - it's powerful enough to heat water to boiling point in less than two minutes.

The lid opens gently when you press the button; switch the TW911P2 on to boil water and a smart blue LED comes on; and there's a neat storage under the kettle for any excess cord. Safety features include cool-touch handle and lid, and automatic steam stop. It only switches on once the lid is firmly closed.

Week 5 - Win a Siemens Steel Jug Kettle. (Closing date Tues August 26, 2008 @6pm)
Drop this coupon into the entry box at "Gift List" on the ground floor of John Lewis Milton Keynes near the escalators.

See out summer in style!

Supergrass

THERE is still time to be part of the coolest new music festival around - The Last Days of Summer Festival.

The event takes place at Stowe House country estate on Bank Holiday Monday, August 25.

Organisers have also announced that an adult paying full price can take up to two under 12s absolutely free.

MK NEWS is the official media partner for the festival, which features an amazing line up including Supergrass, Athlete, Fun Lovin' Criminals, Black Kids, The Rascals, Young Knives and Royworld and a special performance by Britpop legend Richard Ashcroft.

Event spokesman Ciaran Kennedy said: "The Last Days of Summer Festival is one of the music calendar's coolest new dates which brings together, on one stage for one day, a brilliant, international line-up to one of the most beautiful parts of the country.

"This is the first time Stowe House has agreed to stage this type of event and we've worked hard to deliver a line-up you'd normally only see at the really big festivals.

"The Last Days of Summer will allow friends to sit and chill out, grab a beer and sandwich at the bar and food village and enjoy for the last time in 2008, a superb British festival."

Paul Reaney, festival organiser added: "We are determined to put on an event that is as inclusive as possible. As parents ourselves, we really want to give all parts of our community the opportunity to experience a major outdoor music festival.

"As a result we have taken the decision to allow every adult paying full price the opportunity to bring up to two under-12s absolutely free."

A funfair, food village, market stalls, a mini-snow slope created by the MK SNO!zone, and a series of bungy-type experiences will also be available.

Tickets, priced at £39.50 plus booking fee, are available from www.seetickets.com or by calling 0871 220 0260.

The event car park will open from 10.30am, gates open at midday, performances start at 1.30pm and the event finishes at 11pm.

BACK PAIN?

Painkillers and a sheet of exercises are not your only options

A large trial funded by the Medical Research Council in 1990 concluded that CHIROPRACTIC TREATMENT was 30% more effective than hospital outpatient management, mainly for patients with chronic or severe lower back pain.

A follow up trial in 1995 confirmed patients with lower back pain treated by Chiropractors derived more benefit and long term satisfaction than those treated by hospitals.

MUSIC REVIEWS

WHEN footballers spend ten years at one club, they get a testimonial.

Now, I'm no footballer but this week is the tenth anniversary of my first music column, so I'm doing something a bit different. One song from each of the past ten years, revisited and maybe even re-appraised. All very exciting, isn't it? Well, at the very least it makes a change

IF YOU TOLERATE THIS YOUR CHILDREN WILL BE NEXT

Manic Street Preachers (1998)

WAY, way back in the August 23, 1998 edition of Milton Keynes On Sunday, I said this deserved to go to the top based on the title alone. Good job I didn't base it on the quality of the song, because it's a slab of gloom that lumbers on for nearly five minutes.

LEARN TO FLY

Foo Fighters (1999)

THIS one's in more for the video than the song. The video's great, and if you're a regular reader you'll know what that usually means where the Foo Fighters are concerned. However, the song's grown on me over the years too. Any band that can do a video that can make me laugh for the right reasons deserves respect.

OOH STICK YOU!

Daphne and Celeste (2000)

2000 was the worst year ever for popular music and this is proof. Now we know that a few well-aimed bottles can bring a premature end to a music career, it makes me wonder how long it'll be before the judges on The X-Factor do something similar in order to boost ratings.

CRYSTAL

New Order (2001)

EVEN now, this is still one of the greatest comeback singles ever released. The video also gave the Killers their name. However, as much as the single version rocks like a good 'un it's all about the album version. The build-up propels the whole thing from 'amazing' to 'utter genius'.

FEEL

Robbie Williams (2002)

YOU can keep Angels, this is a far better song. The only way this song could've been improved would've been if he ditched the guitar solo.

HURT

Johnny Cash (2003)

IN which Johnny Cash covers Nine Inch Nails and actually does a better job than Trent Reznor. The video only elevates the song even further, showing scenes of Johnny Cash from his younger days alongside the older version as he sings.

TAKE ME OUT

Franz Ferdinand (2004)

TWO songs for the price of one, one for the first minute or so and the second running until the end – now that's value for money.

THE SHOUTY TRACK

Lemon Jelly (2005)

CRIMINALLY overlooked when it came out if you ask me, and not just by the record-buying public. I knew how good it was and I still forgot to review it. Oops.

JOHN THE REVELATOR

Depeche Mode (2006)

LEAVE Depeche Mode off the list? That was never going to happen. I've gone for this one purely on the strength of the UNKLE remix, which essentially turns it into an entirely new song.

I WANT YOU TO KNOW

Charlotte Hatherley (2007)

POUNDING beats, lots of guitars, lovely. I predicted big things for this, which was a stupid thing to do because it stalled at Number 109. Typical.

Let's sum up, then. The music industry's changed a lot in ten years, but at the end of the day, a good song is still a good song and The Fast Food Song isn't.

STAR WARS: THE CLONE WARS

NOW I'm not much of a cook, but in my younger years I used to be quite proud of my spaghetti Bolognese.

I made it simply for many years until I decided to try and reinvent it. So I added all kinds of new, extra ingredients (like bacon bits and baked beans) in an attempt to liven it up. It didn't work.

I overdid it and turned a simple, great formula into a mess.

Mr Lucas has been guilty of similar Bolognese like crimes with his Star Wars franchise. The original films were a taste sensation, the next three began to suggest that Lucas was a one-recipe wonder.

Now here we have the Clone Wars.

Chef Lucas is in serious danger of entirely wrecking a great dish and emptying the restaurant, because he lacks either the wit or the imagination to do anything else.

The main purpose of The Clone Wars is to introduce a new animated TV series. Now kids will be able to follow the further adventures of Obi-Wan Kenobi and Anakin Skywalker, set chronologically between Episode II: Attack of the Clones and Episode III: Revenge of the Sith.

I however will not be enjoying their thrilling animated adventures. I'm going to go back to plain simple excellent original Spaghetti and appreciate that less is sometimes more in life.

BLETCHLEY PARK

FROM BLETCHLEY, WITH LOVE

Bletchley Park

Bank Holiday Monday

THIS family event celebrates the Ian Fleming centenary and his wartime work with Bletchley Park.

Knowing the enemy's secrets and keeping your own is a real war winner.

In the Second World War, code-breaking and the intelligence derived from it played a major role in the allied victory in Europe.

Ian Fleming acted as liaison officer between Bletchley Park and the director of Naval Intelligence throughout the war.

Fleming died in 1964, ten years before the ban on talking about Bletchley Park was lifted.

Now for the first time the story of his involvement with the secrets of ENIGMA and ULTRA, and his intriguing wartime work that really inspired his creation of James Bond, can be revealed.

In celebration of the Ian Fleming Centenary and the opening of the new Ian Fleming Exhibition at Bletchley Park, 'From Bletchley, With Love', Bletchley Park is hosting this very special family event.

Highlights of the day will include a stunning display of Aston Martins, courtesy of the Aston Martin Owners' Club; the Vanquish from Die Another Day; the RAF Falling Rocks parachute display team drop in Bond-style; Little Nellie 2, the gyrocopter from the films; spy workhops; a spy-themed craft workshop; a spectacular flypast by a wartime Dakota and a special talk by Michael Smith explaining the wartime links between Ian Fleming, Bletchley Park and MI6.

Bletchley's Bond

THIS Bank Holiday take a trip back in time to an age of secrets and spies.

Bletchley Park is playing host to 'From Bletchley, with love' a family event celebrating the creator of James Bond, Ian Fleming and his wartime work with Bletchley Park.

In the Second World War, code breaking, and the Special Intelligence derived from it, played a major role in the allied victory in Europe. Ian Fleming acted as liaison officer between Bletchley Park and the director of Naval Intelligence throughout the war. He died in 1964, ten years before the ban on talking about Bletchley Park was lifted.

Bletchley Park can now tell for the first time the story of his involvement with the secrets of ENIGMA and ULTRA, which he was never able to reveal and his intriguing wartime work that really inspired his creation of James Bond.

In celebration of the Ian Fleming Centenary and the opening of the new Ian Fleming Exhibition at Bletchley Park, 'From Bletchley, With Love', the Park is hosting the very special family event.

Highlights of the day will include a display of Aston Martins, courtesy of the Aston Martin Owners' Club, featuring the Vanquish from 'Die Another Day' (courtesy of Aston Martin Lagonda), the latest DBR9 and an Atom; the prototype which was the only Aston Martin in Factory ownership throughout the war and one of only 700 to be registered in the UK during the war.

The RAF Falling Rocks parachute display team will be making a breath-taking descent into the grounds of Bletchley Park Bond-style; Little Nellie 2 – the gyrocopter from the films will also be present.

There will also be spy workshops; a spy-themed craft workshop; a spectacular flypast by a wartime Dakota in tribute to Fleming, courtesy of the Battle of Britain Memorial Flight and a special talk by Michael Smith explaining the wartime links between Ian Fleming, Bletchley Park and MI6.

Normal admission prices apply.

CHEFS'SECRETS

So good I bake 'em twice

AUGUST, hmm! Now have I written the right month down?

As I sit here typing this and looking out the window and see the rain coming down, I think to myself let's hope we don't get a repeat of last year. One minute it's warm and the next its raining again.

People look like there dressed for winter which is a shame, but the good news is there's no point moaning about the rain, because we can't change it, lets face it us brits moan when the sun is shining and its too HOT!

One thing us lot talk about is the weather, funny eh?

But no matter what the weather, the one thing we can always do is EAT.

So for my August dishes its going to be for eight people. So grab some friends, some wine and these recipes and hopefully you will have a laugh no matter what the weather.

This twice baked souffle is easy peasy and I'm not just saying that as I'm a chef.

Like all souffles it will sink when it comes out of the oven. So instead of running to the table to impress your mates with how high it is, you take them out of the moulds and then when your ready they go back in the oven and they puff up again.

To follow I've decided to do smoked haddock cakes . This is an easy tasty dish, I have suggested spinach and tartare sauce with it, but you could serve it with a poached egg on top if you like.

TWICE BAKED GOATS CHEESE & PEA SOUFFLE

INGREDIENTS

3 tablespoons butter, for coating ramekins
butter, for coating ramekins
1 cup dry breadcrumbs
3 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
10oz soft goat cheese
8oz peas
3 egg yolks
salt and pepper
7 egg whites

method

1.Position the rack in the center of the oven and preheat to 425. Butter eight ramekins,. Coat each ramekin with breadcrumbs then turn them over and tap out the excess. Reserve any remaining breadcrumbs.
2.Melt the butter in a stainless-steel saucepan over medium-high heat. Whisk in the flour and cook for 20 seconds, whisking constantly. Whisk in the milk and cook for about 1 minute, whisking constantly, until the mixture has thickened.
3. Crumble 8oz of the cheese and the peas into a large mixing bowl. Pour the hot milk mixture over the goat cheese and mix well. Add the egg yolks and mix again. Season with salt and pepper.
4. Using an electric mixer with whisk attachment beat the egg whites in a large bowl until stiff peaks form. Fold half of the whites into the cheese mixture. Then gently fold in the remaining whites.
5. Divide half of the souffle mixture among the prepared ramekins. Crumble the remaining 2 ounces of goat cheese and divide among the ramekins, then top with the remaining half of the souffle mixture, dividing it equally. Sprinkle the remaining breadcrumbs over the top.
6. Place the ramekins in a large baking pan and pour in boiling water to come halfway up the sides. Bake for about 25 minutes, or until the souffles are golden. Remove and let stand, still in their water bath, for 15 minutes.
8. Using a towel to hold the ramekins, run a knife around the inside rim to loosen. Turn out the souffles onto a baking sheet. The souffles can be made up to 2 days ahead and kept in the fridgethen bake at 220 for 5-7 minutes until golden brown. Serve on rocket leaves with a little olive oil.

SMOKED HADDOCK, SALMON & PARSLEY FISHCAKES

Ingredients

Serves 8
250g smoked haddock (undyed)
250G SALMON (SKINNED)
1 onion finely chopped, cook gently in 2 tbsp butter till soft
500ml milk for poaching
200ml water
3 bay leaves
1 tsp black peppercorns
4 hard boiled eggs, peeled and roughly chopped
3 potatoes peeled cooked and roughly mashed
40g parsley roughly chopped

Method

1. Preheat the oven to 200C/gas 6.
2. Bring the milk and water to the boil in a saucepan with the bay leaves and pepper. When it reaches boiling point, turn down the heat, add the fish fillets and simmer gently for 2-3 minutes.
3. Drain the fish and flake it into a bowl. Add the sautÉed onions, crumbled potatoes, CHOPPED HARD BOILED egg, parsley and mix together. Season to taste with salt and pepper.
4. Press the mixture into the desired size and shape(we use a metal ring at the pub so all the same size), then dip into the flour.
5. Heat some oil in a frying pan and fry the fishcakes on both sides until crisp and golden. Transfer to the hot oven for a further 4-8 minutes until heated through and serve. Serve on some buttered spinach and tartare sauce if you like.

Put some effort in energy saving

CITY businesses concerned about the impact of an economic downturn are being encouraged to think about minimising the use of resources to make cost savings and protect the bottom line.

Business Link, the free business information and advisory service, offers guidance and support on reducing energy costs, as well as practical and efficient tips on energy saving.

Business Link's Deborah Wharton said: "When money is getting tight there are many ways in which being more environmentally friendly will really help your bottom line. Cutting even a few hundred pounds of costs from your businessneed not affect the level of customer service you offer and is equivalent to thousands of pounds of extra sales. Start off by considering your energy use and transport costs, as these are two large areas that you can make savings in quickly."

Elaine Sharp, Envirowise programme manager, added: "The current economic climate requires us to be wise spenders both as individuals and business people. Getting started on the road to resource efficiency can be simple and straightforward. And while senior management buy-in is crucial to success, the fact is that any member of staff in an organisation, at any level, can make a positive difference."

It is a common misconception that taking environmental steps will be an extra cost to the business.

Business Link offers the following low and no-cost tips to help Milton Keynes businesses take steps to lower their environmental impact and add to their bottom line:

■ Get your staff to switch off computers, lights and high-energy guzzlers such as electric tea or coffee machines or speakers. Taking these basic steps can cut energy costs by 10-20 per cent.

■ Consider investing in new, more efficient equipment, as older pieces may use more energy. If financing is an issue, you may be eligible for a Carbon Trust interest-free loan.

■ For many small companies delivering goods or running company cars has really begun to hit the bottom line. So make sure that all deliveries or sales team routes are carefully planned to keep mileage as low as possible. If you run a fleet of over 50 cars or trucks, get a free green review from the Energy Saving Trust. Also, train your drivers to use minimal fuel. Drivers who have been through a Safe and Fuel Efficient Driving (SAFED) training course use on average 18 per cent less fuel, which can save up to a £500 per van driver each year.

■ Try to substitute some of your client face-to-face meetings for web-based video conference calls. This will also help you to keep down your carbon emissions by significantly reducing travel.

■ If you are questioning the need to have actual business premises, then consider working from home. Network with other colleagues and have a dedicated space, which you can use for catch-up meetings. Offering flexible hours so staff can work from home will also reduce their carbon footprint and can often improve productivity and motivation.

■ Strive to be a paperless office. Encourage staff to minimise the amount of printing in the first instance but also make changes to extend toner life and reduce paper. Change the generic 'print default' settings so that the quality is always 'draft' and opt to print on both sides.

Get your brand closer to people's lives

No other medium is as close to people's hearts as Regional Press. Consumers consider it an integral part of their community.
The effectiveness of regional press advertising in driving sales comes down to the simple fact that people prefer to do most of their spending close to where they live.
Consumers' Choice V, a national consumer survey by TNS Media, found that regional press advertising is the most frequently acted upon, with 61% of people responding to it*.
No wonder brands enjoy a closer relationship with consumers when advertised in this, the most trusted and effective medium of all.

Advertorial

It used to be that 'family car' meant a large saloon like a Ford Mondeo or Vauxhall Vectra, with four doors and a big boot stuck out at the back. But in recent years automotive designers have got a lot smarter at what they call 'packaging'. Put simply, it means they can get a really spacious interior – and certainly enough room for Mum, Dad and two children – into a very compact exterior, and still leave room for a generous cargo area behind.

There's no better example of this than the Honda Jazz. Despite being just 3.83 metres long – and smart-looking too – the cabin is on a par with many larger models. And it's all because Honda's engineers came up with a clever way to free up more space when the Jazz was on the drawing board – they shifted the fuel tank from under the back seats to under the front ones. It gives unprecedented flexibility to the interior, and means owners can fold the rear bench in two different ways. Pull one lever and there's a huge and totally flat load floor, pull another to create a sectioned-off compartment in the middle of the car. Practicality is great, but nobody is going to buy it without performance – and thankfully the Jazz delivers here, too. Under the short bonnet there's the choice of a 1.2-litre 78bhp or a 1.4-litre 83bhp petrol engine. The latter delivers an impressive 49.6mpg and low CO2 emissions of 134g/km. However, if you want really frugal and cheap motoring, the 1.2-litre is the model to go for. Fuel economy is a mighty 51.4mpg, with emissions of just 129g/km. Both are linked to a five-speed manual gearbox, or if you buy the 1.4 you can opt for Honda's innovative CVT-7 automatic transmission. The steering wheel features easy-to-use rocker switches on the horizontal spokes, allowing instant upward and down shifts. It means you can drive the Jazz just like an F1 car – keeping your hands safely where they should be – or leave the system in auto mode and let the engine do the work for you. That's a great feature for stop-start urban driving. There are three trim levels on the Jazz, which are S, SE and SE Sport. Standard equipment on all models includes speed-sensitive power steering, electric front windows, power/heated door mirrors, anti-lock brakes, central locking and a CD player. SE grade adds a host of extras including air-conditioning and an electric tilt/slide glass sunroof. The top spec SE Sport gets 15-inch alloy wheels, side airbags and front fog lamps. Safety is always an important issue when family motoring is concerned, and the Jazz has been awarded four stars for occupant safety by crash-test organisation Euro NCAP. And that makes this vehicle – which even Honda calls 'the little big car' – ideal for anyone needing a safe, practical, reliable, fun-to-drive machine.

MK's athletes miss out on medal haul

OLYMPIC GAMES

BY SIMONE CORGAN
simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

WHILE a medal rush has hit Great Britain, unfortunately no athletes from MK have struck gold, silver or bronze.

The Beijing Olympics offered so much hope to four stars from Milton Keynes, but it has been a tough learning curve in China.

The city's greatest success story comes from Greg Rutherford who made it into the long-jump final on Monday.

Rutherford qualified for the final following a jump of 8.16meters on Saturday, but up against the world's greatest it was a distance he needed to improve to challenge for a place on the podium.

However, nothing went right for the 21-year-old on the day as he fouled his first jump, then abandoned the second, although it was logged at 5.20m.

His third was the final chance to register a challenging jump to carry on in the competition, but it wasn't to be as he managed just 7.84m to finish in tenth place.

Irving Jahir Saladino won gold with a jump of 8.34m.

Gail Emms: Told MK NEWS it is 'highly likely' that she will not play on Speaking after a disappointing final Rutherford said: "I felt fine going into it but you never know what is going to happen on the day. Qualification went well – it felt easy. I went into tonight thinking 'right, now I'm going to get myself a medal'. I had the thought of being the first British medallist here. But now I think I'll just feel really angry when I look at the results later on. It was a big chance to win the Olympic gold wasted."

Sprinter Craig Pickering was also left to rue what could have been when he crashed out of the 100metres in the second round.

Despite running his best time of the season, 10.18seconds, in round two he could only finish fifth and outside of the automatic qualification places.

Pickering, 21, may have been relieved not to have made the semis or the final when he, along with the world, watched open-mouthed as Usian Bolt eased to gold in an astonishing, world-record-breaking 9.69seconds.

The runner does have another stab at a medal when he competes in the 4x100metres relay tomorrow.

Elsewhere Gail Emms and Nathan Robertson were left heartbroken when they were knocked out of the badminton mixed-doubles quarter-finals.

Korean duo Lee Youngdea and Lee Hyojung recorded victory in straight sets, 21-19, 21-12, to end the Olympic silver medalists' dreams.

Emms had said she would retire after the Games, although now seems uncertain as to what she will do.

Speaking to MK NEWS she said: "I have always said that this would be my last Olympics. I will have to make a decision, but it is highly likely that I will not play on. I have done everything I wanted; winning in the World Championships and the All England. It would have been wonderful to end with another Olympic medal. I will probably still want to be involved in sport somehow, especially with the London Olympics coming up."

Robertson added: "If it was to be our last tournament together, we wanted it to be a fantastic time. But the dream ending just didn't happen. Close but no cigar. As for Gail she is amazing, so aggressive and feisty, and we certainly have some fantastic memories together."

Youngblood back

BASKETBALL

MK Lions have re-signed their six-foot-seven-inch power forward, Robert Youngblood.

The 39-year-old enters his fifth season with the Lions having contributed in the capture of the club's first ever title last season.

Youngblood averaged nine points and six rebounds for the Lions, in the team's rotation system, but it was his all- round game that pleased Lions' owner and Head Coach, Vince Macaulay.

He said: "Robert is a warrior through and through, you always want him on your side, he is great around the basket, he is even better further away and he brings a nice level of competitive spirit to the team.

"I look forward to him welcoming the new forwards in the League to competitive BBL basketball."

The Alabama native will be competing in his fourteenth BBL Championship campaign, and in that time he has picked up three league titles and two cup titles. He was also on the BBL All-Star Team as far back as 1994-95.

Youngblood missed the start of last season due to an achilles injury, and slowly recovered from that to be playing some tough basketball towards the end of the season averaging 14 points and ten rebounds over the three play-off games.

"Robert has 'rehabbed' his leg very well this summer," said Macaulay.

"I feel we will see an even more energised version of himself come the start of the season. I am excited."

Youngblood joins fellow returnees Terrell Brown and Mike New, as well as rookie Carl McNally. The Lions expect to make another player announcement later this week.

Lions are in action in pre-season friendlies starting with Team USA on September 12 at the Bletchley Leisure Centre.

Aaron Wilbraham's 'awkward touch' was enough to get the winner

Sam Baldock takes on Northampton's Mark Hughes

Willy – the clean sheet kid

MK DONS 1 NORTHAMPTON TOWN 0

Wilbraham 66

BY SIMONE CORGAN

simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

DOOR-TO-DOOR they are just 22.5 miles apart, but only one goal could separate MK Dons and Northampton Town.

Aaron Wilbraham's second-half strike ensured the Dons claimed their first points of the season.

And the three points tasted sweeter for the Dons knowing they had the bragging rights from the first local derby meeting between the two sides.

Some neighbours are the keep-up-with-the-Jones' style, they are known as Peterborough United to the Dons; then you have the neighbours you don't like the look of from the offset and will constantly bicker about behind closed doors, that is the way Northampton view MK Dons.

It is fairly safe to say, Northampton Town do not like MK Dons.

So fireworks, thunderous tackles, and a full-blooded battle were to be expected.

Yet that did not happen at stadiummk. Instead it was a scrappy, edgy affair with errors in front of goal deciding the result.

Cobblers' big target man Adebayo Akinfenwa had their best chances of the game and was left to rue two vital misses.

And while Wilbraham may have his name on the score sheet he was not the only Dons player to thank for the win as Willy Gueret once again proved a master between the sticks.

The Frenchman pulled off several top class saves – including one deep in injury time from Akinfenwa which Roberto Di Matteo described as 'result saving'.

The Italian said: "We didn't want to concede anything even though they had a couple of chances.

"There's always an opposition playing against you and I think Willy in the last minute saved the result today."

The Cobblers would have been a goal ahead, perhaps even two had Sean O'Hanlon not deflected a fierce shot from Ryan Gilligan over the bar and Akinfewna not fluffed his lines from ten yards out when he flashed wide instead.

Dons had opportunities to open the scoring too. Wilbraham's header was stopped by Mark Bunn while Florian Sturm was found wanting in front of goal when he misdirected a header beyond the post.

With skipper Keith Andrews not making the team, for one reason or another, Roberto Di Matteo opted for Peter Leven and Alan Navarro in midfield.

While it may not have been the Dons' boss' original plan it was a partnership that worked with Leven filling the place of the absent captain with ease.

It was in fact the Scotsman who provided the winner with an accurate corner.

His outswinger from the right found Wilbraham at the far post and the Dons' striker got an awkward touch but it was enough to get the winner, despite desperate attempts to clear on the line from Danny Jackman and Bunn.

A late charge by Colin Larkin presented Akinfenwa with a golden chance to snatch a point but Gueret swooped to send the Cobblers home empty handed.

Di Matteo said he was 'delighted' with the result which saw him record his second home win in successive games.

He added: "We have two clean sheets in two home games so that's very important for the team so they know that once we go ahead and score a goal it's very difficult for the opposition to score against us."

MK DONS: Gueret, Lewington (c), Swailes (Stirling 71), O'Hanlon, Leven, Navarro, Sturm (Cummings 61), Regan, Baldock (Gallen 61), Wilbraham.

NORTHAMPTON TOWN: Bunn, Crowe, Jackman, Hughes, Gyepes. Doig (c) (Coke 72), Constantine, Akinfenwa, Davis, Gillian (Larkin 82), Guttridge (Osman 56).

REFEREE: Gavin Ward (Surrey)

League extends transfer deadlines

ROBERTO Di Matteo will have an extra 24 hours to make new signings.

In fact, every manager in the Premier League, right through the Football League, will have another day to add to their summer signings.

The move comes as the original closing date, August 31, fell on a Sunday which inconvenienced clubs. So the Football Association have agreed to officially close the transfer deadline window at midnight on Monday, September 1.

A similar agreement has also been arranged for the January transfer window which was due to close on Saturday, January 31.

PREVIEW

CARDIFF CITY

CARLING CUP

SECOND ROUND

Tuesay, August 26

Ninian Park KO 7.45pm

LAST year's FA Cup finalists stand in the way of MK Dons progressing through to the third round of the Carling Cup.

Cardiff City defied the odds last term to book themselves a place in the Wembley final for the first time in 81 years.

But the Dons are also capable of beating the bookies - as a win over Norwich City in the first round proved.

Roberto Di Matteo's men will have to be switched on from the offset due to the Bluebird's quick fire double in the first round which saw them lead Bournemouth by two goals in 14 minutes.

And the defence will have to be watertight until the final whistle too as Cardiff also have the habit of scoring late.

In their two Championship games they have scored in the 88th minute to claim a point and in the 91st to take all three.

HUDDERSFIELD

LEAGUE ONE

Saturday, August 23

Galpharm Stadium KO 3pm

MK Dons are hoping to rediscover the away form that served them so well last season.

And on the back of two morale boosting 1-0 victories, one in the league, the other in the Carling Cup, they will head to Huddersfield full of confidence.

More important to Roberto Di Matteo is the two clean sheets his side have kept following their 2-0 defeat to Leicester on the opening day.

The Terriers, celebrating their centenary year, have hardly hit the ground running with two draws.

One familiar face to the Dons is Sierra Leone international Malvin Kamara. The pacy winger spent two seasons with the Dons and will be out to get the better of his old side. But with Sean O'Hanlon and Danny Swailes at the back he may have a difficult afternoon.

TICKETS for the Dons' match this Saturday are only available on the day at Huddersfield Town.

Dons supporters have been allocated the Pink Lady Stand priced £20 for adults; £12 for senior citizens; £10 for students and juniors.

For further information contact the MK Dons Box Office, Monday-Friday 9am-5pm on 01908 622900.

WILLY Gueret has been named in the League One Team of the Week.

He is the first Dons player to be named in the divisions best eleven this season.

It follows his impressive clean-sheet display between the sticks against Northampton Town.

League One Team of the Week in full: Willy Gueret (MK Dons), Jack Hobbs (Leicester City), Reuben Hazell (Oldham Athletic), Chris McCready (Crewe Alexandra), Alan Wright (Cheltenham Town), Garry Thompson (Scunthorpe United), Charlie Lee (Peterborough United), Matt Oakley (Leicester City), Chris Taylor (Oldham Athletic), Danny Graham (Carlisle United), Craig Mackail-Smith (Peterborough United).

THERE has been an unfamiliar sound at stadiummk - no goal celebration music.

Last season Dons fans had great fun bouncing up and down to the sound of The Fratellis Chelsea Dagger song.

The fans' favourite song was played every time the Dons scored, so five times against Accrington Stanley and four times against Lincoln City.

But the tune was given the cut this campaign, until a poll by the Supporters Association proved that 86.84 per cent wanted it to return.

The club have now promised Chelsea Dagger will once again be played at stadiummk.

MK Dons Supporters Association have organised a treasure hunt.

Teams will meet at the Beacon pub on Sunday, August 24 at 12pm and they will then go around MK in search of the answers to clues.

MKSPORT LOCAL CRICKET ROUND-UP

MORRANTS FOUR COUNTIES LEAGUE

Division one

EATON Bray lost only their second game of the season at the weekend but remain at the top of the table.

They fell apart in spectacular fashion after leaking 323 runs for three wickets to New Bradwell.

Nadeem Shayez smashed his way to 109 and Teemor Alam to 101no before Bray posted a response, and it was a dreadful performance as their batsmen fell apart.

Bray lost ten wickets for just 32 runs which handed them an embarrassing 300 run defeat.

Aspley Guise lost to Cublington by two wickets.

Cublington picked up 25 points from the win at Aspley Guise as they managed to equal the 190 total set.

A century from Mark Hallum was not enough for Olney Town to claim a victory.

Unbeaten knocks from Stewart Phillipson (64no) and Max Walker (62no) helped North Crawley to a six wicket win.

Division two

MENTMORE are now just six points adrift at the bottom of the table following their victory over Soulbury.

They picked up a vital 25 points by reaching 126-7 to win the game by three wickets.

Edlesborough (165-5) are in third as they beat Biddenham (161) by five wickets while Aston Clinton (87) lost by four wickets to Old Bradwell.

Elstow stay top despite drawing with the Open University.

Elstow (138) looked set for victory but the OU (98-9) held out to share the points.

Lee Clark took 3-27 for Studham to help his side to a seven wicket win over Stewkley.

Teemor Alam bats for New Bradwell

Division three

DISMAL Drayton Parslow were thrashed by nine wickets by Turvey.

Simon Sparkes claimed 3-7 as Drayton crashed all out for FIFTEEN runs.

Turvey lost one wicket on their way to the lowly target.

Once again Anton De Beer was the star of the show for Shenley Church End with a superb 155, yet that was not enough to earn them maximum points.

Shenley (237-4) were held to a draw as Caddington (158-7) batted through their innings.

Eaton Bray 2nds (213-6) lost to Eggington Foresters by seven wickets, while Whitchurch's 59 run win over North Crawley 2nds (155) keeps them at the top.

Division four

CRANFIELD University moved into second with a 64 run victory over Stoke Hammond, who occupy third spot.

Milton Keynes 2nds (201-8) lost by 127 runs to MK City 2nds who had Ashley Moyo's 31 and George Nelson's 33 to thank for the win and Totternhoe (127-7) beat Willen by 27 runs.

Old Bradwell 2nds (119-8) drew with Harlington (192-2).

Division five

WING drew with Stewkley 2nds and remain at the bottom of the table.

They hit 221-4 yet couldn't produce the goods with the ball to dismiss Stewkley as they reached 151-8.

Olney Town 2nds handed Milton Bryan 2nds a 34 run defeat while Turvey 2nds (222-5) moved up to fourth by beating Newport Pagnell Town 2nds (221-4).

Division six north

AT the bottom of the table North Crawley 3rds drew with Wolverton Town 3rds.

Crawley reached 127-8 in response to Wolverton's 229-4 which earned them five important points.

Wolverton's 20 points keeps them in third place.

CHERWELL LEAGUE

Division two

MK Park slipped to second place after a closely fought draw at Challow and Childrey.

At one stage Challow were struggling on 122-8 but an unbroken stand of 56 between Alex Lynch (41no) and Lee Stevens (22no) pushed the home team to 178-8.

Ghufran Mohammed picked up yet another five wicket haul with 5-59.

Park's reply was hampered when James Ward fell with the score at 21, and Challow's spinners strangled the scoring rate by picking up regular wickets.

Graham Simpson's knock of 76 helped Park draw the game with a total of 163-7.

Park also recorded a two wicket win in their Bucks Cup quarter final against Gerrards Cross.

They now host Beaconsfield on Sunday, August 31 in the semi-final.

NORTHANTS PREMIER LEAGUE

IT is looking bleak for Stony Stratford as they could only manage a winning draw against fellow stragglers Wollaston.

Stony were put into bat and were soon reeling at 9-2, but with the classy Dion Ebrahim at the crease Stony went on to make 192-7 from their 55 overs, with the former Zimbabwe captain finishing unbeaten on 97.

Despite Steve Bellow and Richards' smart bowling early on, which saw them reduce Wollaston to 34-4, the opposition were defensive and held out to share the points.

Stony are now two points adrift at the bottom.

SPORTSSHORTS

Bletchley Gunner

A MILTON Keynes youngster graced the Champions League last week.

Mark Randall, from Bletchley, was an 84th minute substitute for Arsenal in their first-leg Champions League qualifier against FC Twente.

He has featured heavily in Arsenal's pre-season ahead of the new 2008/09 campaign.

Randall, 18, was brought on in place of another young Englishman Theo Walcott, and although only on for a short time the MK lad didn't look put of place.

Gunners legend Paul Merson, now a SkySports pundit, said Randall had looked 'comfortable' on his European debut.

Newport up for the cup

THE FA Cup final may have taken place only three months ago but the new competition has already kicked-off.

The Extra Preliminary round took place at the weekend and Newport Pagnell Town FC have booked their place in the next round.

Newport Pagnell recorded a 2-0 victory over VT FC on Saturday in front of 32 people and in doing so earned the club £750.

They now host Cirencester Town on Saturday, August 30 in the Preliminary round of the famous cup competition.

Silverstone star visit

A BRITISH Touring Car Championship driver is heading to Milton Keynes to drum up support.

On Sunday, ahead of the penultimate round in the BTCC, BMW Dealer Team UK driver Mat Jackson will appear at Midsummer Place to pull in the crowds.

Jackson is in his first BTCC competition, but is sitting in fifth place.

He has been identified as a future star and will be signing autographs at Midsummer Place between 1-2pm at the Silverstone Exhibition Unit.

To book tickets to the British Touring Car Championship on August 30-31 visit www.silverstone.co.uk or call 08704 588 260.

Ince move for skipper

KEITH Andrews is on the verge of leaving MK Dons.

MK NEWS understands Blackburn Rovers have submitted an offer for the midfielder and it is now up to new boss Roberto Di Matteo as to whether he stays or goes.

Former Dons manager Paul Ince wants Andrews to join him at Ewood Park and this newspaper has learnt the Premier League club have submitted a £500,000 bid.

That price could rise by another £800,000 with add on costs which include appearances and honours.

It is understood that chairman Pete Winkelman has given his go-ahead to the deal, although Di Matteo has the final say.

Andrews did not feature in the Dons' 1-0 win over Northampton despite warming up prior to kick-off.

Yesterday Di Matteo said he had 'no idea' whether Andrews would feature at the weekend, although the skipper was at training.

He said: "We'll just keep monitoring the situation. We're not releasing any public information at the moment, so there is nothing I can say about it.

"He's a member of our club so I don't see why he shouldn't be training."

The Dons are expected to finalise a season-long loan for FC Metz' Flavien Belson later today, and the new addition will pave the way for Andrews to leave stadiummk.

Di Matteo wants the French under-21 midfielder to join up with the Dons 'as soon as possible' so he can feature against Huddersfield on Saturday.

One player who could take part is Ali Gerba who could make his long overdue debut.

He is due to play against Jamaica in a World Cup qualifier for Canada tomorrow night, but will return to England later this week.

Gerba's first appearance in Dons colours was delayed due to problems with his work permit - an issue the Dons' boss will be glad to overcome.

"English bureaucracy is not much better than the Italian one.

"We really need every player, so I hope to have everybody available."

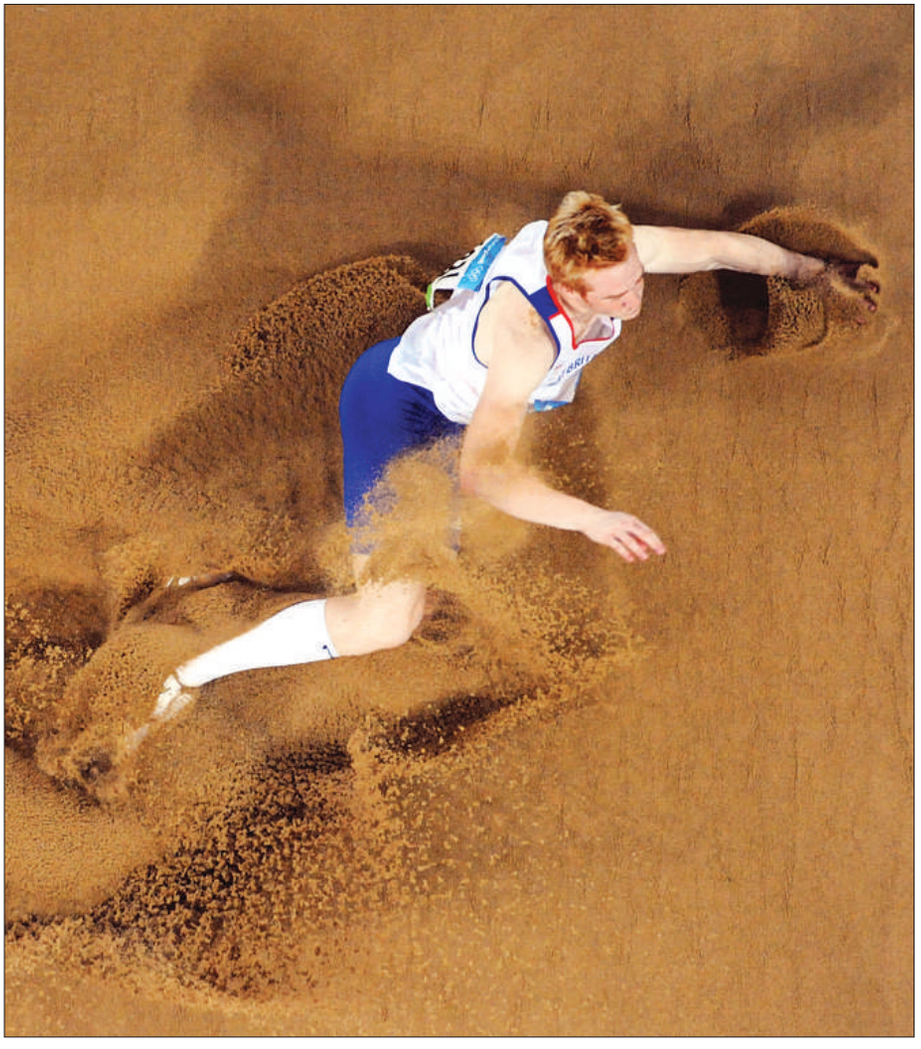
While there is good news with the two new arrivals the Dons have been dealt another defensive blow.

Danny Swailes, who returned from injury last week, felt knock-on effects of his ninety minutes against Northampton and sat out of training. Sam Baldock was also missing.

"Danny is feeling his Achilles again, we'll have to monitor his situation and see how he reacts."

The Dons head into the game on the back of two wins, while Huddersfield have started their league campaign with two draws and Di Matteo knows his side must get results on the road.

"We need to pick up points away and at home. It's a long season though, on the way you're going to have ups and downs."



Lost in a sea of sand: Beijing medal hopeful Greg Rutherford failed in his bid for gold on Monday. The Milton Keynes athlete qualified for the long jump final, but his third jump of 7.84m wasn't enough to win him a medal. Full story inside.
